Volunteering at the Harmony Equine Center

The Dumb Friends League Harmony Equine Center was established in 2012 as a rehabilitation and adoption facility for abused and neglected horses and other equines that are removed from their owners by law enforcement authorities. This 168-acre facility also serves as a central hub where transferred horses from humane societies and rescue groups can receive training and rehoming.

Volunteers at the center assist with projects that typically include cleaning stalls, mucking out pastures and turnouts, tending to paddocks, and washing equipment. This work plays a vital role in helping to support the center so that our staff can best serve the equines in our care with rehabilitation and expert training.

Group Size: We can accommodate groups up to 10-25 people in size.

Location: 5540 E. Hwy. 86, Franktown, CO 80116 (enter “Harmony Equine Center” into your navigator)

Weather: Volunteering is typically held rain or shine; please dress appropriately for the weather.

Attire and Supplies: Volunteers are asked to wear comfortable clothing and shoes that can get dirty, and to dress in layers. Please bring a water bottle, sunscreen, and a pair of work gloves.
